Biography – Patricia Marks

Manager of the Department of Radiation Oncology
Ellis Hospital

Born and raised on Long Island. I relocated to upstate NY when I was a teenager. I received a Bachelors Degree from SUNY Stony Brook in 1995. After that I stayed at Stony Brook and worked towards my degree as a Radiation Therapist at the School of Allied Health Professions. After graduating and becoming Board Certified, I travelled all over the country with a staffing agency as a staff Radiation Therapist. I returned to the Capital District in 2003. Since then I have been affiliated with St. Peter's and Saratoga Hospitals. I currently work at Ellis Hospital as the manager of the Department of Radiation Oncology. I received my Master of Arts degree in Business and Policy Studies from SUNY Empire State College in 2007.

I live in Saratoga Springs.
